StarWords Daniel Kunth, Elena Terlevich, 2024-03-21 Unbeknownst to many, our modern language contains countless words that were inspired by human observations of the cosmos. We now use words like "zenith", "Monday", "disaster", "dog days", "starfish", "lunatic", flu, and so many others, without a second thought for their celestial roots. Famous French astrophysicist Daniel Kunth invites you on a linguistic and scientific journey through space and time to explore these forgotten origins. You will be astonished to rediscover cosmic language hidden in plain sight through this wonderful collection of historical and cultural stories, famous idioms and delightful puns, along with the real science behind each one. Elena Terlevich is a well known professional astronomer working at INAOE in Mexico, an honorary Professor at La Plata University in Argentina and a regular visitor at the Institute of Astronomy in Cambridge (UK). Requiring no prior knowledge in astronomy or linguistics, this book's universal contents invite the reader to ponder how our observations of the night sky have shaped our modern tongue and customs.

A Million Little Miracles Mark Batterson, 2024-11-19 The New York Times bestselling author of Win the Day reminds us of the millions of miracles God performs every day and inspires us to live with a clearer sense of identity and purpose. Think you've never experienced a miracle? With all due respect, you have never not. In fact, you are one! There never has been—and there never will be—anyone else like you. That isn't a testament to you. It's a testament to the God who created you. Your fingerprint, eyeprint, and voiceprint are unlike anyone else's. Simply put, you matter to God. Most of us take everyday miracles for granted, including the one that stares back at us in the mirror. It's time to take them for gratitude. Why is that so important? Because whatever you don't turn into praise turns into pride. The miracle of life becomes mundane. We get so wrapped up in our own little world, we end up worshipping a god who looks like us, acts like us, and thinks like us. It's no wonder we've lost our wonder. But there is a way to recapture holy curiosity! In A Million Little Miracles, New York Times bestselling author Mark Batterson reveals three miraculous truths that awaken us to carpe wonder for the Creator and His creation: 1. God Is Bigger Than We Think—we can rest in His wisdom and strength 2. God Is Closer Than We Realize—we never have to do life alone 3. God Is Better Than We Imagine—we can reclaim our childlike wonder A million little miracles are waiting to be discovered, including the miracle called you.

Karen Barad as Educator Karin Murris, 2022-04-12 This book is about becoming touched and moved by Karen Barad's agential realism. Karen Barad as Educator is not biographical. It is not about Barad. There is much to be learned about teaching and education research through the human and other-than-human narrative characters in Barad's writings and way of life. Reading this book is about becoming entangled with, and being inspired by, a passionate yearning for a radical reconfiguration of education in all its settings and phases (e.g., day-care centres, schools, colleges, universities, but also homes, museums or therapy rooms). This book will appeal to lecturers, teachers, artists, therapists, parents and grandparents, funders of education research, organisers of educational events, as well as detached youth workers. In short, this book will speak to anyone interested in the 'what' and the 'how' of educational encounters and who is interested in alternatives to the dominant neoliberal national curricula, educational policies and humanist teaching, research, and conference agendas. The book aims to offer a gripping account for educators to be inspired by the invigorating and elusive philosophy of agential realism with a specific focus on iterative performative practices that profoundly matter to what counts as knowledge, teaching, learning and response-able education science.

The Modern American Urban Novel Arnold L. Goldsmith, 1991 Goldsmith challenges the view that nature is absent in the modern urban novel, and interprets the phrase the interweaving of physical description and symbolism, metaphor and characterization, and theme and imagery that give internal form to external narrative. He provides a textual analysis of seven 20th-century American novels: Manhattan transfer, Studs Lonigan, Call it sleep, The Dollmaker, The Assistant, The Pawnbroker, and Mr. Sammler's planet. Two Weeks To Live Peter Aspinall , 2019-04-30 George Longworth has been diagnosed with terminal cancer. And as if that wasn't bad enough, his teenage son is convinced a huge asteroid is making its way towards Earth. Conclusion: he's doomed either way. Deciding to go on a trip of a lifetime to Australia with his family, George and his (apparently psychic) St Bernard dog, Bernard, unwittingly stumble into celebrity status when they meet Aboriginal elder Jenny Moynahan and rising NRL star Jamal Jawai. They also have doubts about the Earth's longevity. And yet, despite the struggles of sudden fame, one question overrides them all: can Bernard save the world from destruction beyond imagination? Or do we all only have two weeks to live?

Looking for Romeo Carmina Esquivel, 2023-05-21 June Capehart is thrilled when an old edition of Romeo and Juliet arrives at her local library. But fictional guys can't be dating material for her best friend's annual theme party. Not that June has ever dated before. And going with her best friend Alex, like every year, will make the rumors about them being a secret couple come true. The only problem is that Alex sent June to the friendzone a long time ago. Fortunately, a peculiar guy appears out of nowhere and seems too good to believe. His arrival, however, will bring more than one turning point to June's summer.
