Light - Learn Physics What is Light? Light is a type of energy that enables us to see with our eyes. Light travels from a source, like the sun or a light bulb, to our eyes, and to the surroundings. That is the reason we can see objects during daytime with the sunlight, or with a light bulb in the night. Light - New World Encyclopedia The study of light and its interaction with matter is termed optics. The observation and study of optical phenomena such as rainbows and the aurora borealis offer many clues about the nature of light as well as much enjoyment. Light - Wikipedia The main source of natural light on Earth is the Sun. Historically, another important source of light for humans has been fire, from ancient campfires to modern kerosene lamps. With the development of electric lights and power systems, electric lighting has effectively replaced firelight. Light - (What is Light + How We See + Facts) - Science4Fun light isn't made of matter, so it doesn't have mass. It is just a form of energy (also called electromagnetic energy) that travels at a constant speed from one place to another and reflects from the objects.
