Gender and health May 24, 2021 · Gender norms, roles and relations, and gender inequality and inequity, affect people's health all around the world. This Q&A examines the links between gender and health, highlighting WHO's ongoing work to address gender-related barriers to healthcare, advance gender equality and the empowerment of women and girls in ...

Gender - World Health Organization (WHO) Jun 26, 2025 · Gender refers to the characteristics of women, men, girls and boys that are socially constructed. This includes norms, behaviours and roles associated with being a woman, man, girl or boy, as well as relationships with each other. As a social construct, gender varies from society to society and can change over time. Gender is hierarchical and produces inequalities that intersect with other ...

16 Days of Activism against Gender-Based Violence Dec 10, 2024 · Many survivors of gender-based violence in humanitarian emergencies face immense hurdles to access essential health care and support services – whether because of destruction of infrastructure, dangers of moving through conflict zones, or fear of stigma or reprisals. Violence against women and girls is preventable.

Closing data gaps in gender - World Health Organization (WHO) Collecting, analyzing, and using good quality, disaggregated data is necessary to improve people's health and well-being. In 2019, WHO's Global Health Statistics were disaggregated by sex for the first time. When data on individuals are broken down by sex, health systems are better able to identify and respond to gender inequalities in ...

Gender Equality - World Health Organization (WHO) Aug 23, 2018 · Gender equality means equal rights and opportunities for all genders. It is a fundamental principle of justice and fairness, and it is essential for achieving sustainable development. Gender equality is not just a goal in itself, but also a means to achieve other goals, such as poverty reduction, economic growth, and improved health and education outcomes. ...

WHO addresses violence against women as a gender equality ... Jul 17, 2023 · Preventing and responding to violence against women and girls continues to be a worldwide public health, gender equality and human rights priority. Globally almost 1 in 3 women experience physical and/or sexual violence in their lifetime, mostly by an intimate partner.

Gender incongruence and transgender health in the ICD Inclusion of gender incongruence in the ICD-11 should ensure transgender people's access to gender-affirming health care, as well as adequate health insurance coverage for such services. Recognition in the ICD also acknowledges the links between gender identity, sexual behaviour, exposure to violence and sexually transmitted infections.
