

La Teoria Del Mico

María Cruz Berrocal,Leonardo García Sanjuán,Antonio Gilman

De monos y hombres Varios autores,2022-10-13 Por su constitución física, sus aptitudes para la imitación y su relativa disposición al adiestramiento, el mono siempre ha estado presente en las sociedades humanas, visto como una curiosidad o un adorno, casi un chiste. Pero, desde que a mediados del siglo XIX las teorías de Darwin fundamentaron científicamente nuestro parentesco, adquirió una dimensión inesperada, dramática, objeto de todo tipo de fabulaciones, ironías y pesadillas. Marta Salís ha reunido en esta antología diecisiete cuentos que ilustran perfectamente esta evolución de mascota graciosa y presentable a símbolo muchas veces oscuro de nuestra animalidad. De E. T. A. Hoffmann a Roberto Arlt, pasando por Flaubert, Poe, Lugones, Kafka, Lovecraft, Vallejo o Dinesen, vemos cómo la literatura se ha servido de los primates para ridiculizarnos, extrañarnos, forzar incómodamente nuestra comprensión. A veces imagen de la degradación, a veces recordatorio de la fatuidad, también ha sido un excelente pretexto para hablar de la cautividad y de los desmanes de la experimentación científica. De monos y hombres plantea interesantes interrogantes, a través de una serie de excelentes narraciones, sobre cómo nos vemos y cómo concebimos la humanidad.

The Prehistory of Iberia María Cruz Berrocal,Leonardo García Sanjuán,Antonio Gilman,2013-03-05 The origin and early development of social stratification is essentially an archaeological problem. The impressive advance of archaeological research has revealed that, first and foremost, the pre-eminence of stratified or class society in today's world is the result of a long social struggle. This volume advances the archaeological study of social organisation in Prehistory, and more specifically the rise of social complexity in European Prehistory. Within the wider context of world Prehistory, in the last 30 years the subject of early social stratification and state formation has been a key subject on interest in Iberian Prehistory. This book illustrates the differing forms of resistances, the interplay between change and continuity, the multiple paths to and from social complexity, and the 'failures' of states to form in Prehistory. It also engages with broader questions, such as: when did social stratification appear in western European Prehistory? What factors contributed to its emergence and consolidation? What are the relationships between the notions of social complexity, social inequality, social stratification and statehood? And what are the archaeological indicators for the empirical analysis of these issues? Focusing on Iberia, but with a permanent connection to the wider geographical framework, this book presents, for the first time, a chronologically comprehensive, up-to-date approach to the issue of state formation in prehistoric Europe.

The Archaeology of Bronze Age Iberia Gonzalo Jimenez, Sandra Subías, Margarita Romero, 2014-11-13 After more than a century of research, an enormous body of scientific literature in the field of El Argar studies has been generated, comprising some 700 bibliographic items. No fully-updated synthesis of the literature is available at the moment; recent works deal only with specific characteristics of Argaric societies or some of the regions where their influence spread. The Archaeology of Bronze Age Iberia offers a much-needed, comprehensive overview of Argaric Bronze Age societies, based on state-of-the-art research. In addition to expounding on recent insights in such areas as Argaric origin and expansion, social practices, and socio-politics, the book offers reflections on current issues in the field, from questions concerning the genealogy of discourses on the subject, to matters related to professional practices. The book discusses the values and interests guiding the evolution of El Argar studies, while critically reexamining its history. Scholars and researchers in the fields of Prehistory and Archaeology will find this volume highly useful.

Archaeologies of Complexity Robert Chapman, 2003-12-08 An up-to-date and critical analysis of how archaeologists study past societies, Archaeologies of Complexity addresses the nature of contemporary archaeology and the study of social change, and debates the transition from perceived simple, egalitarian societies to the complex power structures and divisions of our modern world. Since the eighteenth century, archaeologists have examined complexity in terms of successive types of societies, from early bands, tribes and chiefdoms to states; through stages of social evolution, including 'savagery', 'barbarism' and 'civilisation', to the present state of complexity and inequality. Presenting a radical, alternative view of ancient state societies, the book explains the often ambiguous terms of 'complexity', 'hierarchy' and 'inequality' and provides a critical account of the Anglo-American research of the last forty years which has heavily influenced the subject.

Disciplinas, saberes y prácticas Víctor Navarro Brotons, 2014-12-22 Entre los siglos XV y XVIII Europa fue escenario de una serie de novedades, cambios o transformaciones en los saberes acerca de la naturaleza, en los procedimientos y métodos empleados para describirla y explicar sus procesos, y en la manera de organizar las actividades o prácticas relacionadas con estos saberes. El presente libro ofrece un conjunto de trabajos basados en los resultados de investigaciones del autor realizadas a lo largo de varias décadas y en una amplísima bibliografía, dedicado todo ello a la actividad desarrollada en el ámbito de las disciplinas matemáticas o físico-matemáticas y sus aplicaciones, así como en filosofía natural, en la sociedad española de los siglos xvi-xviii. Todo ello, desde una perspectiva comparada y dejando de lado

Ideologies in Archaeology Reinhard Bernbeck,Randall H. McGuire,2011-11-01 Archaeologists have often used the term ideology to vaguely refer to a “realm of ideas.” Scholars from Marx to Zizek have developed a sharper concept, arguing that ideology works by representing—or misrepresenting—power relations through concealment, enhancement, or transformation of real social relations between groups. Ideologies in Archaeology examines the role of ideology in this latter sense as it pertains to both the practice and the content of archaeological studies. While ideas like reflexive archaeology and multivocality have generated some recent interest, this book is the first work to address in any detail the mutual relationship between ideologies of the past and present ideological conditions producing archaeological knowledge. Contributors to this volume focus on elements of life in past societies that “went without saying” and that concealed different forms of power as obvious and unquestionable. From the use of burial rites as political theater in Iron Age Germany to the intersection of economics and elite power in Mississippian mound building, the contributors uncover complex manipulations of power that have often gone unrecognized. They show that Occam’s razor—the tendency to favor simpler explanations—is sometimes just an excuse to avoid dealing with the historical world in its full complexity. Jean-Paul Demoule’s concluding chapter echoes this sentiment and moreover brings a continental European perspective to the preceding case studies. In addition to situating this volume in a wider history of archaeological currents, Demoule identifies the institutional and cultural factors that may account for the current direction in North American archaeology. He also offers a defense of archaeology in an era of scientific relativism, which leads him to reflect on the responsibilities of archaeologists. Includes contributions by: Susan M. Alt, Bettina Arnold, Uzi Baram, Reinhard Bernbeck, Matthew David Cochran, Jean-Paul Demoule, Kurt A. Jordan, Susan Kus, Vicente Lull, Christopher N. Matthews, Randall H. McGuire, Rafael Micó, Cristina Rihuete Herrada, Paul Mullins, Sue Novinger, Susan Pollock, Victor Raharijaona, Roberto Risch, Kathleen Sterling, Ruth M. Van Dyke, and LouAnn Wurst
